ARIZONA NOTES.

Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

Military headquarters at Douglas, received orders, Saturday, removing the embargo on arms, ammunition and other munitions of war, going into Mexico, reversing the order issued earlier in the week.

The Baca grant, in northwestern Yavapai county, is being fenced with four strands of barbed wire. The tract contains about 100,000 acres and the fence enclosing it will be about 50 miles in length.—Prescott Courier.

The school of mines of the Arizona State University is a mining college in a mining country. The student does not have to buy a railroad ticket a thousand miles long with which to connect his theory and his practice.

Senator Ashurst is for a vigorous campaign of "preparedness." It was his "preparedness" that prevents his being shot by an "assassin" when a candidate for district attorney of Coconino county, also when he wrote his name as Senator Ashurst "in his little spelling book."

Section Foreman J. E. Reynolds captured a Mexican girl, Mary Hernandez, one mile north of Bowie, who had escaped from the Fort Grant reform school, and was dressed in male attire. Immigration Commissioner C. G. Sesser took her back to the institute.—Bowie Enterprise.

O. P. Updegraff and Magnus Flaws, two of the leading horse authorities in the United States, who participated as officials of the great track events at the Panama Pacific exposition have been chosen by the Arizona State Fair commission as judges and starters of the track events at the coming State Fair.

Word comes from Phoenix, that ten thousand acres of land on which Moqui scrip had been filed, and had been held up, has passed to patent and the official papers are now at Phoenix. Other batches of selections are expected to pass very soon until some 200,000 acres, already selected has passed to patent and to the settlers.

One of the largest sales of cattle made in this county during recent years has just been closed by William Neal, of Oracle. He sold 1500 head at a price of something more than $40,000. A train load of the cattle were shipped yesterday, going to New Mexico, and the balance will be shipped next week.—Star.

Special officer W. F. Ferguson, connected with the Indian department has succeeded in practically stamping out the tiwin and tulapal traffic among the Indians. In the last seven months the officer has destroyed in the neighborhood of 1000 gallons of tiwin, besides causing the arrest and conviction of a score of the redskin distillers.—Globe Record.

The Grand Canyon of the Colorado is a small scratch on the earth's surface made by Nature to show man what an insignificant insect he is. It is 100 miles long, 13 miles wide and 6,000 feet deep. Viewed from Mars, it would look like a wrinkle on the face of Nature. Viewed from its brink, it is so awe-inspiring that even Commercial Travelers look at it in silence, and famous writers claw hopelessly for adequate adjectives.

Yuma county has voted its $400,000 for good roads and has a good start on their construction. The supervisors have purchased a gasoline road roller, a portable rock crushing and screening plant, which has been located at Dome, and are making arrangements with the Southern Pacific for a siding to be constructed at joint expense and will build on the siding a permanent crushing plant at a cost of $15,000 or more.

With the arrival last night from Douglas in the county truck of 20 trunks of booze, confiscated from boot-leggers by the sheriff's office, the total now in storage in the jail is 24 trunks and 25 cases. When the 28 cases captured at Douglas last night are brought over, the booze warehouse will be almost filled to overflowing. As soon as each case is settled, the confiscated whiskey is destroyed by the sheriff.—Prospector.

Mr. George W. Pittock, to whom all Arizonians are indebted for the conscientious newspaper and magazine work he has done in the past twenty years for the territory and state, has settled down to the usual routine for the Arizona Magazine in Southern California and may later embark in the newspaper business for himself. His thousands of friends in Arizona and California wish him well in any undertaking to which he may address himself.

Wright Walker, publicity and advertising man for the Southern Arizona Fair, to be held at Tucson November 4, 5, and 6, is strictly at home on the job, and is scattering literature broadcast concerning the fair, which will be worth seeing. The program and premium list has been received at this office. The prizes offered are varied and many. The sporting part of the program is very good, aero day being on the 4th, and on the 5th the San Xavier marathon will be a special event.

En route to Nogales, where he will fight Battling Mantell, Young Wolgast was in the city yesterday, coming from Lordsburg, N. M., where last Saturday he obtained the decision over Battling Moreno in a ten-round bout. He leaves today for the Border City. While he will train on the American side of the line, his bout with Mantell will be staged on the Sonora side. Wolgast came out of his Lordsburg fight in good condition and says he will require little additional training for his fight with Mantell.—Star.

An amusing incident occurred at the court house this week that tends to show that love is either totally blind or at least indifferent. Moreno Lopez appeared before the clerk of the superior court for a marriage license and gave his own name as one of the contracting parties but when it came to remembering the name of his heart's desire he was at a loss. He attempted to refresh his memory but in vain and a recess was taken until he could find his fiancée and ask her name.—Clifton Copper Era.

"Gone mad with joy" is the way President R. B. von Klein-Smid of the university described the feeling of the Arizona student body and faculty yesterday at the rally held in the gymnasium to welcome the Arizona football heroes back home. He declared a holiday to celebrate a victory over Pomona.

Other newspapers in Arizona have published more pretentious special editions as to number of pages, but we have not seen any better in make-up, illustrations and the character of its contents than one just issued by the Mohave County Miner. It is printed on a good quality of book paper, profusely illustrated and enclosed in a cover of exceptionally good quality. The arrangement of the contents are not only attractive but artistic and Editor Smith has reason to be proud of his success. That the good work was appreciated by the citizens of that county is evidenced by the liberal advertising patronage.—Gazette.

Flagstaff, Arizona, will one day become one of the greatest summer resorts on the American continent. Sixty-five miles away from Flagstaff is the Grand Canyon of Arizona. Ten miles out are the prehistoric cliff dwellings and Lake Mary. The ice caves and lava beds are only sixteen miles distant, and the petrified forest and painted desert are near by. The extinct volcanoes are only eighteen miles out; Montezuma's Well, 50 miles; Indian snake dance, about 100 miles; prehistoric ruins, 25 miles; natural bridge, 75 miles, and the great San Francisco peaks, towering 12,900 feet, 12 miles; Lake Mary, 10 miles.—Santa Fe Magazine.

It is only a few years since Santa Cruz county, outside of Nogales, was supposed to be given over to mining, border bandits and a few honest stock men, while Cochise county was known only for its mines and a few stock ranches back in the hills. Recently a convention of farmers from these two counties was held in Douglas for the purpose of organizing a farm improvement association. Likewise the cattlemen ranging in the Coronado forest recently met in Tucson and organized an association. All this in Southern Arizona. It is no longer safe anywhere in this state, in a mixed crowd, to make fun of a hayseed a miner or a cattle grower. If Arizona people are not careful to protect their old time prejudices, they will wake up some fine day to find the various real interests, cooperating and then prosperity cannot be prevented from asserting itself. It was feared that old timers would all have to die first, but honest, they are just coming alive.—Arizona.
